TARIFF TALK.

Chairman Springer Gives Some Startling Statistics on the Wool Situation of Today.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Mr. Springer, chairman of the ways and means committee, is putting in a great deal of time on "looking up" as he calls it on the tariff facts and figures. He has made a careful study of the reports issued by Statistician Brock, of the treasury department, and is carefully outlining the policy that will be pursued by his committee in the way of tariff legislation "These statistics show strange things," said Mr. Springer today. "You know this McKinley bill was made to suit the farmer and under it he is supposed to get all that protection which the republican party promised him. The tariff was put up on wool and on woolen goods This was intended, so they claimed, to keep out foreign competition and give the American woolen owners a chance, but what is the result? According to the figures of the treasury department during the nine months ended October 31st, under the Mckinley bill as compared with the preceding nine months we find there has been an increase, not a decrease, in the amount of wool imported into this country amounting to the unprecedented figures of 35 per cent. and on top of this wool fell from 2 to 5 cents a pound in value in America. Thus it appears that while the republicans promised less foreign competition, and a very much higher price to the farmer for his wool under the very proposition of the measure upon which it is promised, wool went down in price, and more than ever used before in this country came from abroad. That was rough on the farmer who was told all this and it is just such things as this that the democrats will endeavor to correct"

WANTED TO DIE.

M. DeMaupassant, the Novelist, Attempts Suicide.

PARIS, Jan. 4—A dispatch from Cannes, this morning confirms the report that M. DeMaupassant, the well known novelist, attempted to commit suicide while stopping at that place, on Friday night. He is not seriously injured, however Few details concerning the attempt are procurable at present. It is said, however, that M. DeMaupassant fired the entire contents of a revolver at his head and that he would undoubtedly have killed himself, had it not been for the fact that his valet, acting upon the instructions of the family, who were alarmed at the conduct of the distinguished literatus during his recent sickness, had taken the precaution to draw the bullets out of the cartridges in the revolver which Maupassant fired Failing to take his own life by shooting, the novelist gained possession of a knife and tried to cut his throat. He was only able to inflict a slight wound upon himself before he was overpowered. M. De Maupassant has been a sick man for some time past. Nervous prostration, brought on by overwork, complicated by an attack of influenza, brought on delirium, during which he tried to kill himself. According to the latest advices from Cannes, M. De Maupassant was resting quietly and it was predicted that he would be soon on the road to complete recovery.

Crosses the Mississippi and Spreads Westward With Rapid Strides.

ST. LOUIS, Mo, Jan. 4.—David B. Hill's presidential boom has crossed the Mississippi and will soon manifest its presence in the organization of Hill campaign clubs, the members of which will be expected to push the New Yorker to the front by the usual political demonstrations. The local movement in this direction has been in the wind for several days past. It is expected to culminate tomorrow evening in the organization of a Hill club by the democrats of the eighth congressional district It is announced that a Hill club will be formed in each congressional district of Missouri.

WASHINGTON, Jan 4—Intimation has come from Senator-elect David B. Hill, that ex-President Cleveland will decline to have his name go before the democratic convention for the presidency this year.

NEWS OFFICES BURNED.

Two of Them go up in Smoke This Morning.

WESTFIELD, Va, Jan. 4.- A fire which started at 2 a. m. today in the frame building known as the "Arcadian hall," at the corner of Broad and Prospect streets, quickly communicated to the Ferris building adjoining and thence to three more frame structures in the row, and despite the efforts of the firemen all the five buildings with their contents were destroyed. The total loss is estimated at $10,000, with an insurance of $30,000 Arcadian hall was owned by H. E. Taylor, of New York city, and was occupied by the Leader and a number of societies. The Ferris building was occupied by the Women's Christian Temperance union, Schooner & Scudder's meat market and two other stores, also the office of the Standard The other three structures were occupied by small retail storekeepers.

FIRE AND SMOKE

Creates a Disastrous Panic in a Chicago Hotel—Several People Killed or Injured.

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—There was a fatality, a slight blaze, some smoke and a great deal of excitement at the Waverly hotel, 262 South Clark street, about 2 o'clock this morning. Paul Wood, a boy, was crushed in the elevator in the wild rush of people to escape from the building. S. F. Wood and his wife fell down a flight of stairs and were seriously bruised. The man had one or two ribs broken. John Meredith died from the effects of smoke inhaled. There were no other persons injured to any extent, which is somewhat remarkable as the hotel was crowded and nearly 300 people surged and crushed in the hallways and corridors in their attempts to reach the exits and fire escapes The fire originated at the rear of a restaurant in the basement of the hotel. A defective or overheated cooking apparatus caused it. The flames were conveyed through the shaft of a dumb waiter to the floor above, and the smoke made its way through the same avenue all over the hotel. Damage to the hotel is nominal.

LATER.

John Meredith died soon after being taken from the building.

SPEAKER CRISP'S CONDITION

Is Such as to Prevent Him From Presiding Over the House To-morrow.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The condition of Speaker Crisp was not materially changed last night, although his physicians report him to be slightly improved, though very weak this morning. Mr Crisp is anxious to be present and open the house when it reassembles to-morrow, but it is probable that he will take the advice of his physicians and remain indoors until his strength shall have been fully regained. Representative McMillan, it is expected, will be designated by the speaker to call the house to order to morrow.

Speaker Crisp's illness and the absence of rules has developed the fact that Mr. Crisp has no power to appoint a speaker pro tem. It has been the general opinion that Mr. Crisp would appoint Mr. McMillan speaker pro tem during his absence, but an examination of the constitution and precedence in such matters show that he can not name a speaker pro tem in the absence of rules, and as the present house has no rules, he is deprived of the power. The clerk of the house will consequently have to call the house to order to-morrow, as he does at the beginning of congress, and put and decide any motion that may be made. The house can then select a speaker pro tem to act until Speaker Crisp is able to resume his chair.

BACK TO PRISON.

Henry Cassin's Second Trial Goes Against Him.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.- Henry Cassin, the bell boy of the Vendome hotel, who some two years ago was convicted of having stolen a box containing $16,833 from the safe of the hotel, and sentenced to nine years' imprisonment, and who has been out on bail pending a revision of his case by another court, was again arrested today and placed in the Tombs. The findings of the lower court were sustained by the general term of the supreme court, to which body the appeal had been taken. The money stolen belonged to Somers & Carlin, bookmakers. None of it was ever recovered.

OFFICIOUS MATTA

Alone Responsible for the Insult to the United States.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—A Valparaiso despatch this morning states that Minister of Foreign Affairs Matta sent his now famous dispatch in reply to the demands of the United States government without submitting it to President Montt or other members of the cabinet. This information is procured on reliable authority. The present ministry is preparing another document as a substitute for Senor Matta's undiplomatic letter.

VALPARAISO, Jan. 4—It is stated here that the Emperor William will be proposed as an arbitrator in the Baltimore case.

RATHER PREMATURE.

The Report That the Supreme Court Decided in Favor of Boyd Denied.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The supreme court of the United States did not announce a decision in the Nebraska governorship case today The statement that the court had decided in favor of Mr. Boyd by a vote of six to three is incorrect, as only eight justices were present when the argument was heard, Justice Bradley being absent on account of illness.

GOULD IN DANGER.

A Crank Who Wants Money Gets on the Millionaire's Trail and Threatens Assassination.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4—For some time past threatening letters have been received by the Gould family which were evidently written by a well educated German. The writer was evidently well acquainted with Jay Gould's career. The letters dated as far back as 1870, and related incidents connected with the partnership between Mr Gould and Jim Fisk and their government of the Erie railroad. They went on to speak of an accident on that road in which the writer's father and mother were injured, for which he demanded the sum of $10,000 The writer stated that if the $10,000 was not given up forthwith Mr Gould was liable to be blown up in his office, or while walking in the street or riding in his carriage. The request was made that the money be forwarded to a certain address in Canada, a hotel being mentioned there

Inspector Byrnes was notified, and he dispatched two detectives to Canada. They visited the hotel in question, and learned from its proprietor that he had instructions to forward such letters to a town in New Jersey. Instructions had subsequently been left not to open the letters, but to have them readdressed to some place in this city, but just where the police refused to make known. The authorities refuse to give any further particulars regarding the affair or what their researches have brought to light. They are still at work on the case, however. Both George and Edwin Gould were seen last night in regard to these threatening letters, but they would say nothing for publication

Prinz Von Michaels, who has recently devoted himself to loitering in the vicinity of Jay Gould's Fifth avenue mansion, was arrested last night. Today he was arraigned in a police court, where he told the justice a disconnected yarn about a scheme he had on hand for an elevated railroad in St. Louis, where he hailed from. He incidentally remarked that the new road would cost $15,000,000, and that Mr. Gould would certainly put up the money. He also stated that he was willing to marry Mr. Gould's pretty daughter Helen, and had no doubt he could secure that young lady's consent. Von Michaels was remanded to the Bellevue insane pavilion, where, after an examination, the doctors pronounced him hopelessly insane.

HELENA, Mont., Jan. 4.—Three highwaymen held up a stage near the border line, not far from Boner's Ferry, early Saturday night. They made a rich haul, securing about $6,000 worth of jewelry from Ed. L. Huntley, representing a Chicago wholesale house. The robbers also got about $10,000 in cash. The robbery occurred in a dense woods, where there was three feet of snow on the ground. Huntley offers $1,000 reward for the return of the jewelry. No description could be given of the robbers, as they were fully masked.

THE WORK OF A DEMON.

A Dynamite Bomb Smashes a Bakery Building Into Smithereens—One Man Injured.

ST. LOUIS, Mo, Jan. 4—A report like the roar of artillery shook the business portion of St. Louis at 6 45 o'clock this morning. Glass was rattled in windows, panes of glass cracked as if there was an earthquake, and numerous citizens were routed out of their morning naps. The thunders eminated from the rear of 301 South Fourth street, where the bakery of H. J. Miller was located. The rear end of the structure was knocked into smithereens by the explosion of what was supposed to be a dynamite bomb thrown against the walls. Frank Bach, an employe, had just opened up and was making preparations for his day's work when the explosion occurred, throwing him violently to the floor in the midst of flying bricks, mortar, wood and glass He lay there insensible and bleeding from numerous cuts, in which condition he was found by Patrolman Goetz Goetz, hearing the explosion, rushed to the scene. "Soon as I came, I rang for an ambulance," he said, "and picked Bach up, who seemed to be badly cut. I started to hunt up the cause of the explosion. It looked to me as if a dynamite cartridge had been placed under the window by some one in the alley and ignited." About three years ago a strike was organized among the bakers of St Louis All the workmen employed by Miller are said to be nonunion men The police think there may be some connection between these facts and the explosion, and are working on the dynamite theory.

SLAVIN BACKS DOWN

And Sullivan's Forfeit Money is Returned to Him.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4. Nobody to represent Frank P. Slavin, the Australian pugilist, appeared at the Herald office at noon today, as had been agreed, but Charley Johnston, of Brooklyn, and Arthur T Lumley, of the Illustrated News, were there on behalf of John L. Sullivan. After giving half an hour's grace, Mr T. A Steimer, the sporting editor of the Herald, returned the $2,500 forfeit to Johnston, and all prospect of a match fell through. Johnston expressed great disgust at the failure of Slavin to send some kind of a word. "Slavin and Mitchell are not on the fight," said the Brooklyn sport, "and I'll have nothing more to do with them. If they think they can get any more advertising out of John L. Sullivan, they are much mistaken."

PORTLAND, Ore, Jan 4.—John L. Sullivan, in an interview with the United Press reporter here last night, said: "I have stopped drinking intoxicating liquors. I have sworn off for a year, and intend to keep the pledge. I would like very much to have a go with Slavin, but it looks very much now, after all his statements to the contrary, that he is trying to avoid a match with me. One the first of June my tour with my theatrical manager comes to an end, and I would like to have a match arranged between Slavin and myself to take place the middle of September, if possible. I would be willing to fight before any club of standing for the largest purse. I prefer New Orleans. I have empowered Charlie Johnston to make a match if he can."

MAIN BURSTED.

Our Neighboring City of Peru Left Without a Fuel Supply.

Peru pastors preached to meager congregations Sunday, owing to the fact that most of the members of their flocks were obliged to be abed all day to keep from freezing to death. That little city depends entirely on natural gas for its fuel supply. Saturday night, with the mercury below zero, the main pipe leading to the city burst, and the gas was turned off. The few people having wood stoves managed to keep from freezing Sunday by burning boxes, boards and old furniture, but the majority of the population were obliged to keep to their beds.

A STREET TRAGEDY.

Florida Citizens Indulge in a Little Recreation—Two Men Killed and One Disemboweled.

GREENVILLE, Fla, Jan 4—Messengers coming in here by private conveyance today bring the news of a bloody street fight last Thursday in Perry, forty miles south of here, in which Robert Parker and John J Garnto, ex-county judge of Taylor county, were killed, and Thomas Walters so badly injured that he will probably die Walters and William Parker got into a dispute in front of J. M. Garnto's store, and Parker finally cut Walters across the abdomen with a long-bladed pocket knife. Walters then fired his pistol at Parker, but without effect. Parker got his shotgun from his wagon near by and the firing became general by the intervention of Robert Parker, a brother of William, Marion Murphy (both armed), and of Judge Garnto, who tried to stop the fight. Walters put three pistol balls into the body of Robert Parker in rapid succession and he fell dead in the road. William Parker let go both barrels of his gun at Walters, but both charges hit Judge Garnto full in the stomach, and he was taken insensible into a store Walters snapped his pistol twice at Parker while the latter was shooting at him with his gun. Then he ran into a store near by, grabbed some cartridges from a shelf and was on his way back to the scene of trouble when he became too weak from loss of blood to travel. He was picked up by friends.

The coroner's jury in the matter of the killing of Robert Parker found that Walters killed him in self defense. Early this morning Judge Garnto died, after suffering intensely for nearly three days.

DECISION REVERSED.

WASHINGTON, Jan 4—In the supreme court of the United States today Justice Brown announced the decision of the court reversing the decision of the circuit court for the southern district of Illinois in the case of the Wiggins Ferry company, appellant, against the Ohio and Mississippi railroad company, to compell the latter to pay them for ferrage across the Mississippi river between East St. Louis and "Bloody Island" under an old contract, although the railroad had given up the use of the ferry and was using a bridge. The contract was made in 1858 for ninety-nine years between the ferry company and the railroad company, of which the Ohio and Mississippi became the assignee The railroad company, after it obtained the use of the bridge, refused to pay toll to the ferry company and the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of Illinois, decided in its favor in a suit brought by the ferry company. The decision of the supreme court today reverses the holding and remands the cause for further proceedings

THE PIPE OF PEACE

Will be Smoked by the Parties in the Famous Schell-Stein-Coleman Cases—News in the Courts.

The curtain in the famous Schell Stein Coleman legal drama, which has been on the stage in Justice Harry France's court for the last week, will probably soon be rung down.

The first scene of the last act was played Saturday, when Ed Schell was fined $5 and costs for provoking Carrie Coleman. Schell was not sent to jail, as stated by some of the city papers, but gave security for the stay of the docket.

The disposition of the parties who have figured in this series of law suits, all of which grew out of the horse-whipping of Schell by Miss Coleman, is now to bury the hatchet and compromise any further grievances they may have against each other This will probably be done and thus will end the interesting drama that has delighted such large audiences in 'Squire France's theatre for the past week

Chief Wilkinson carried the property to the postoffice and Mr. Williams opened it He said it contained newspapers, mostly coming from the east on No. 7, for Muncie. How the sack got off the train is not known, but it may have been carried out of the car door by a gust of wind.

Dinnen and Esquires Wilkinson and France It was shown that he had stopped for some time at the Washington house He believes himself to be a Roman Catholic priest, is destructive and violent and at times uses profane language. This is the week of prayer.

Will it be Sherman or Foraker?

The pay days of the month will soon be here again.

The school boy is at his studies again after the holiday vacation.

The Hoosier politician is beginning to get a move on himself.

The Putnam county democracy indorses Matson for governor.

The new year has started in all right as far as the weather is concerned.

Thad Butler is trying to secure a cheaper light for the city, without much promise of success.

Hon. David Turpie has announced his intention of being a candidate for renomination to the United States senate.

The first fire of the new year in this city was in a newspaper office. Bro. Mitchell of the Dispatch was the sufferer.

The present cold weather can be accounted for. There is a strong probability that John Sherman, the Ohio icycle, will be renominated United States senator.

The ice packers need not be discouraged. No ice was stored last season until the latter part of the winter, and even if there should be a total failure of the crop, we can manufacture all we need.

WHATEVER the fates may have in store for us in the way of weather before the gentle and balmy springtime comes, we have at least had a few days of genuine winter. It commenced coming Saturday, and yesterday and to-day not only were furs and winter wraps in demand, but enough of "the beautiful" covered the earth to make pretty good sleighing here in the city. There were many out enjoying it, yesterday, and all day long sleighs were flying over our paved streets and the merry jingle of the sleigh bell could be heard in every part of the city. Oh, for more snow, and lots of it! The Snow King has not been lavish with his gifts during the last few years, and we welcome him heartily. May he stay with us for awhile and give the snow hungry inhabitants of this part of the country several weeks of good old-fashioned sleighing before the winter season takes its departure.

The first skirmish in the Ohio senatorial battle has been won by the Sherman forces. In the republican caucus of representatives which was held at Columbus Saturday night Laylin, the Sherman candidate, was nominated for speaker of the lower house over McGrew, the Foraker candidate by a vote of thirty-eight to thirty-four. The Sherman men say the fight is over, and that all that remains is but a perfunctory formality. The Foraker men say that the fight is just beginning to get interesting, that subordinate issues are now out of the way and the field cleared for the great senatorial contest that is to retire John Sherman from the United States senate and place J. B. Foraker at the head of the republican party in Ohio. At the caucus of republican senators Senator Elbert L. Lampson, of Ashtabula, was unanimously selected for president pro tempore. Lampson is claimed by both Foraker and Sherman, but thus far he has failed to declare himself. It is generally understood that the senatorial joint caucus will not be held until Wednesday or Thursday evening, so that the decisive result cannot be known until that time, but Sherman now appears to be ahead.

The two branches of the Young Men's Christian association united in union services at the rooms of the railroad department yesterday afternoon which were addressed by Rev. J. M. Boyer, the pastor of the Third Presbyterian church. His discourse was an impressive one and appropriate to the beginning of the new year, the text being, "So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom." The briefness of human life as compared to the great eternity before us he illustrated in an eloquent way. This life is but a preparation for the one beyond the grave he said, and yet many live it as if they expected to remain here with no thought of the eternity of ages to come. It is not all of life to live nor all of death to die. Every person on this earth has a duty to perform for his God—to fit himself for the eternity that is so rapidly nearing. How short we realize an eternity is ... important question. "Prepare to meet thy God" is the admonition of the ... and with this first Sunday of the new year it should impress itself upon the mind and heart of every one. The speaker closed with an earnest ... all to give their hearts to God and lead Christian lives.

In order to allow Rev. D. McIntosh to deliver his great sermon on Tuesday at the Wayne street M. E. church Rev. G. N. Eldridge, by exchange of pulpits, preached at the First Presbyterian church last night. His sermon was directed more especially to the young people of the Christian Endeavor society, and was an able and interesting discourse. Rev. Eldridge took as his text the words of John, "I have written unto you young men, because you are strong." The church of Christ, he said, is of divine origin and has a mission in the world that is broad. It needs all the world's resources. She ... in the world and God has something for everyone to do, hence there is need of young men in Christian work, because there is power in youth and if their energies are rightly directed they can accomplish grand good for the cause of Christ. God, the church and the world all unite in demanding the highest type of Christian character. The young Christian then, the speaker said, should approach as near as possible to this standard. Rev. Eldridge spoke of those things which went to make up this high type of Christian character and dwelt at length upon each of the following requisites. The young man should be physically strong, he should be intellectually strong, he should be socially strong, he should be influentially strong, he should be religiously strong and all those attainments he should use for the glory of God and endeavor to win others to Christ. He closed with an appeal to all to cultivate these Christian graces and aid in the grand work of bringing souls to salvation. God has a mission for every one and will use them if they will but consecrate their talents to His service.

WARSAW GETS IT.

The Plymouth Institute for the Cure of Drunkenness Will Be Removed to the City of the Lakes.

Mr. W. P. Cooper, secretary and manager of the Plymouth Institute company, was in the city yesterday returning to Plymouth this morning. Mr. Cooper is authority for the statement that the Plymouth institute will be removed to-day or tomorrow to Warsaw where the great plant will be permanently located and enlarged fully as the increasing public patronage in the work of curing inebriation may require.

"We have acquired," said he, "the well known sanitarium property of Mr. S. W. Oldfather. It is located on south Indiana street at no great distance from the depot of the Fort Wayne railroad. The principal building appears to be capitally adapted to the purposes in view and contains commodious rooms for the company's offices and physicians. It has a large number of sleeping apartments and a surprisingly complete bathing house where vapor baths, Turkish baths, Russian baths, etc., may be supplied. This building is well furnished, is heated with steam and is very attractive in every way. An adjoining building will be fitted up at once as a club house and for reading rooms and here the patients may find relaxation in a perusal of magazines and newspapers and will have facilities for writing to friends.

"The removal of the institute from Plymouth where the now famous cure for inebriation originated, was not an easy matter. The physician in charge, Dr. T. A. Borton, is endeared to the citizens of Plymouth and enjoys not only a splendid practice, but the respect and confidence of the community. When it was learned by his townsmen that the institute company proposed that Dr. Borton and his excellent family should change their residence to Warsaw, the strength of their attachments at once found expression in a strenuous public objection. The people even went so far as to offer to give a bond to erect a $5,000 building and donate it to the company if it would forego its Warsaw plans. But after a thorough canvass of the matter had been made the superior attractiveness of Warsaw and the manifestation of the good will of its citizens could not be disregarded. Besides all of this the excellent new quarters to be had there would make the institute at once operative for the treatment of a considerably larger number of patients than the present quarters at Plymouth could accommodate. I forgot to say that the water supplied to the institute is from a flowing well on the premises and an analysis shows that its qualities are practically the same as the water from the renowned Silurian well at Waukesha, Wis.

"No effort has yet been made to acquaint the public with the merits of the Plymouth cure and its reputation rests entirely with the unfortunate people who have experienced treatment, not one of whom has relapsed into drinking habits. The treatment is about the same as that offered at the Keeley institute at Dwight, which, by the way, has become so terribly over crowded that patients are now turned away.

"With the excellent results shown there is no reason why persons seeking an absolute, guaranteed cure for the liquor habit, should longer put up with the serious inconveniences of a three weeks' residence in the dreary prairie town of Dwight when the Plymouth institute in the charming, lake city of Warsaw, invites their presence. It is thought that the patients will number at least 100 by the opening of spring."

Rev. D. S. Fouse, who recently visited here, writing from Bluffton, has the following kind words about the Grace church: "The mission has a lot, a large one centrally located on East Washington street. It is only a few squares from the center of the city and has erected on it a very comfortable chapel and a commodious parsonage. There is no debt on this property excepting on the parsonage, which is being gradually reduced and is not a burden on the mission. The mission was started in 1883 and therefore has a history of nine years or less. It now numbers 200 members, while the outlook for the future is good. Brother Zartman and wife have been doing hard work here. From what we can learn they have been unceasing in their labors while among this people and whatever of a discouraging nature may be met with, let them still keep steadily to the work and success will crown their efforts. From all we could see the people stand by their pastor and are a working people. The main church building is the aim now. Whether this will be erected next year or five years hence matters not, but that it is coming in the near future cannot be doubted. And when it is erected it will doubtless be a building that will be a credit to all concerned in its erection."

The Huntington Herald says: "A. D. Mohler and family are now domiciled in their new residence on Guilford street and have again become permanent residents of Huntington. Mr. Mohler will follow the profession of an architect, a business for which he is thoroughly qualified by experience as a builder and by studies for the past year with the best architects of the state.—A. Lorenz, wife and baby, came down from Fort Wayne New Year's day, and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Levi. Mr. Lorenz and child will remain over Sunday."

"The sweetest thing that ever grew beside a human door" was little May until she took to having headaches. For a time she lost her beauty, but one bright day her papa bought a bottle of Salvation Oil, and lo! she is as sweet and pretty as ever.

WHO FOR GOVERNOR?

Hon. Mortimer Nye, of Laporte, Is in the Field.

One of the active and prominent candidates for governor before the Indiana democratic state convention will be Hon. Mortimer Nye, of Northwestern

Indiana. Mr. Nye is fifty-two years of age, a true and sterling democrat. He is a native of Ohio, but has resided in Laporte for the past fifty years. In 1862 he was admitted to the bar and today stands in the front rank of successful attorneys. He has been elected mayor of Laporte four times, was chosen a Cleveland and Hendricks elector in 1884, receiving a larger vote than any of his colleagues, and was additionally honored by them by being selected as a messenger to carry the vote to Washington. When the legislature provided for a supreme court commission, he was selected as one of its members.

Prevention is Better

Than cure, and those who are subject to rheumatism can prevent attacks by keeping the blood pure and free from the acid which causes the disease. For this purpose Hood's Sarsaparilla is used by thousands with great success. It is the best blood purifier.

I suffered from acute inflamation in my nose and head—for a week at a time I could not see. I used Ely's Cream Balm and in a few days I was cured. It is wonderful how quick it helped me.—Mrs. Georgie S. Judson, Hartford, Conn.

Being a sufferer from chronic catarrh, and having derived great benefit from the use of Ely's Cream Balm, I can highly recommend it. Its sales are far in excess of all other catarrh remedies.—B. Franken, Druggist, Sigourney, Iowa.

La Grippe!

The tendency of this disease toward pneumonia is what makes it dangerous. La Grippe requires precisely the same treatment as a severe cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of severe colds. This remedy effectually counteracts the tendency of the disease to result in pneumonia, provided that proper care be taken to avoid exposure when recovering from the attack. Careful inquiry among the many thousands who have used this remedy during the epidemics of the past two years has failed to discover a single case that has not recovered or that has resulted in pneumonia. Twenty-five cent, 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by all druggists.

Strange Freak of a Sleepy Freight Conductor—Matters of Local Interest Picked Up at the Shops.

Lake Shore freight conductor Wimple met with a singular accident in the Elkhart yard. He was sound asleep in his caboose when all of a sudden he sprang off his bunk and plunged head foremost through a window in the side of the caboose. His brakeman saw him in time to catch and hold his body when about half through the window, and he was hauled back in the inside, when it was found that his head and face were scratched and his hands cut by the glass, one being so badly lacerated that he could not use it after it was dressed. He was trembling like a leaf and looked the very picture of terror when brought back into the caboose. To the anxious inquiries of his brakeman he replied that he had been sleeping quietly and dreaming of a journey toward home and a pleasant greeting, when suddenly the tenor of his dream changed, and he thought his caboose had been wreck and was on fire. The flames were creeping upon him, all was confusion. Looking about he saw no way of getting out of the car except through the window. It was then that his dream became realistic in action, and he made the bold plunge for life head foremost through the glass. A similar instance is thus described by the Logansport Journal: "The other night a passenger to Indianapolis fell asleep and in the midst of his slumbers dreamed that the conductor and brakeman had fallen from the train. Realizing the necessity of regaining the lost men he jumped to his feet and reached wildly for the bell cord which he grasped and was on the point of giving it a pull that would have brought the train to a quick stop when his arm was arrested by Brakeman Frank Larger, who happened to be within sight of the sleeper and was an interested watcher of the strange act. Frank soon brought the bewildered traveler to his senses, whereupon explanations ensued and it is needless to say that the dreamer was greatly relieved to find that it was a dream instead of a stern cold fact which had so startled him. He kept his eyes wide open during the remainder of the trip and made then and there a resolve to never again court morpheus while traveling on the 'covered cars.'"

TWO HUNDRED MILES AN HOUR.

Wonderful things are prophesied by Edison of his newly perfected electric system for railways, street and other It will displace the locomotive, because it can get from one or two pounds of cheap coal all that a locomotive can get from six pounds of dear coal. It will begin to do this between Chicago and Milwaukee at the world's fair. Henry Villard is to run trains between those cities at frequent intervals, say one or two cars every twenty minutes, and may then introduce the system on the Northern Pacific line. The electric current will pass from a stationary engine to a central rail between the tracks and thence to a mechanism attached to the bottom of a passenger car, or to a motor drawing freight cars, returning through the wheels and side rails to the power-house. Three stationary engines of 10,000 or 12,000 horse-power each will be able to drive the whole Pennsylvania railroad system between New York and Philadelphia. Full speed by this system will be 200 miles an hour, and Edison feels sure that a speed of 100 miles would be practicable on a rock-ballasted track with 100 pound rails. All the one man who will take the place of the present engineer and two firemen on fast trains will have to do will be to keep a lookout and mind his brake. In the case of street cars the middle rail is abolished, the current passing along one rail to the motor and back through the other. A mile of track for this system could be laid in one night under pressure. Mr. Villard will soon have a track for demonstration ready in the neighborhood of New York. Wagon wheels will not distract the current because they are made of wood, and the low pressure to be used will not be felt by a horse or human being.

Passenger business on all railroads will be dull for a while, now that the holidays are over, and will remain so until the summer travel begins. There was more travel on all the lines last year than ever before and the earnings are very satisfactory to the companies.

Frank P. Sargent, grand master of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, has recovered from his recent illness and is again looking after the affairs of the order. He was sick over a month. Mr. Sargent lives in Terre Haute, but is well known in this city, where he is a visitor occasionally.

On the Pennsylvania lines the fast mail train is valued at many thousand dollars. The best engines haul it and trained crews manage it. This is somewhat different from the mail train on the Indiana Midland. Business on that road is practically at a standstill No trains have been run for a week and the few engines have been chained to the track But the United States mails must be delivered The management has a contract and if that contract is violated the penalty is so heavy that it would not be long until the government would take the road To keep this contract the mail is delivered on a hand car every day, and a start is made early enough so that it can be delivered on time. Of course the postal clerk has no chance to distribute the mails, but at the larger offices on the road it is made up ready to be thrown off For instance a day like this the mail clerk must have a very enjoyable time

UNDER the leadership of the Duchess of Portland nearly 1,000 Englishwomen have banded themselves together to discourage the wearing of the plumage of song birds for decorations. It might puzzle them to explain why song birds alone are to be saved from the millinery hunter. Their humanity only extends to the birds from which they draw pleasure.

TRAIN-ROBBERS went through a passenger train within a few yards of the city limits of St. Louis the other night. Very unfortunate situation that town occupies. To get into it from the east passengers have to submit to being robbed by the bridge company, and to get out of it by the west they have to yield up their wealth to the road agents.

IT does look a good deal as if the Chicago police were frightened at their own shadows when they made their recent raid on the alleged "anarchists." And yet it cannot be forgotten that on one occasion—and that not so long ago—they were as much too dilatory as they have now shown themselves too previous.

Rev. Dr. Moffat delivered his great sermon on Theosophy to an immense audience at the Wayne street M E church last evening, every seat of the large audience room being occupied and chairs in the aisles. THE SENTINEL has already noticed the principal arguments of the discourse. It was the same sermon that Dr. Moffat delivered at the First Presbyterian church a few weeks ago, and is a grand "annihilator" of the doctrines which Theosophy is seeking to promulgate. The sermon was well received by the large audience that heard it.

The costumes of ladies attending the Charity ball which were inadvertantly omitted in THE SENTINEL'S list were the following: Mrs. W. H. Watt, light green radame, jeweled corselet, diamonds; Mrs. Will McKinnie, black lace net over surah, festooned with white silk tulle, Mrs J B Reitze black rhadame velvet and jets: Mrs Louis Diether, black faille and net; Mrs. G. B. M. Bower, ox-blood silk, black silk net over dress; Mrs F. D. Pearse, ondine green silk, white lace, pearl ornaments; Mrs Julius Nathan, black silk and lace, diamonds, Mrs. P. S. O Rourke, black silk and lace; Miss Miriam Cohen, white India silk, pearl ornaments Mrs C A Zollinger's name appeared as Mrs. C A Sawyer. Her costume was a black silk trimmed in chiffon, with decorations of red carnations.

APPLIED TO JAY GOULD.

A Wandering Scotch Lad Who Wanted Steamer Transportation.

The restless discontent of these times is shown in the great number of very young people rushing about the world and living by any trick the youthful mind can devise. Almost every day boy waifs—yes, and girl waifs too—are picked up by the police of every city, and the odd fact about it is that the wildest and most improbable stories told by them often prove true.

The other day a boy of fourteen, who gave his name as James Sullivan and his native place as Glasgow, Scotland, was brought into Jefferson Market court, New York, for begging in the street, and it soon appeared that he had just applied to Jay Gould for a "pass" to Scotland.

According to his story he ran away from his stepmother at the age of seven, with Maitland's circus, and soon got to be a skillful bareback rider. From mere restlessness he left the circus and crossed the ocean as a stowaway. He had since returned to England and crossed again to New York and had then "beat his way" over the railroads to a town in Texas, where he met Frank James, who gave him a dollar and a pair of boots and advised him to go home.

If he was romancing he did it well, for he named all the towns and railroads in their proper order, told a straight story throughout, and did not break down or contradict himself under the most searching cross examination. But when they took his picture and told him it was to be mailed to Scotland and he was to follow or go into a reform school he fell to weeping at a great rate and swore that if he was shut up he would kill himself. He wanted to travel "with a circus or something." He was sent home.

For the coming year this best and most comprehensive weekly in the world for youthful readers offers a varied and fascinating programme. In serial fiction it will contain "Diego Pinzon," a story of the first voyage of Columbus, by John R. THE BOSTON STORE.

WAIT!

It is said that everything comes to him who waits.

IF you wait for our Great Annual Clearing Sale, which Commences SATURDAY, the 16th inst., you will not have waited in vain.

WE don't have sales every week in the year; we cannot afford it, because a sale with us means unloading at cost, and less than cost, and as all men live by their profits our modesty restrains us from assuming that we give them to our customers the whole year through.

WE make our expenses and a little more, for at least fifty weeks in the year, and can well afford to work for nothing, or even less, for the last two weeks of our business year, to clean up the odds and ends of our Fall and Winter stock to make room for New Goods.

THUS it is, that our Sales being an actual business necessity and only occurring at the end of a prosperous season, are not only a grand success for us, but re-establishes us in the esteem of our patrons.

EVERYONE gets Genuine Bargains who wait for and attend the Annual Sales at the BOSTON STORE.
